A few years ago I learned the secret of Japanese women's beautiful skin. I could hardly believe how simple it is!

Dear Friend,

Let me rephrase that. Actually, I could believe how simple it is - because I know from my own experience how simple, natural lifestyle changes can transform your health and turn you into a true (not cosmetically enhanced) beauty. What I couldn't believe was that, until now, no American company had been able to come up with such a simple, elegant solution.

So when I learned about a collagen supplement powder that women in Japan were drinking every day for beautiful skin, I had to find out more. After all, Japanese women have always been famous for the splendor of their skin, and beauty experts have known for decades how important collagen is for lovely, wrinkle-free skin. So I tried the drink and not only did I see the results - but even my husband commented on the change in my skin!

This special collagen drink is called Toki® - which in Japanese means "with skin as lovely as porcelain". You simply mix Toki powder with water or tea two or three times daily. I liked the pleasant lemon taste and I loved the way it made me look!

Collagen is what gives your skin its resilience, your tendons their elasticity, your ligaments their strength. But the collagen molecule is a big one - too big to pass easily out of the digestive system and into the cells where new tissue is formed. So while cosmetic companies have been selling collagen creams for years - and scientists are pretty skeptical about how much of that collagen ever makes its way deep enough into your skin to make any difference - until now, nobody had ever found a way to make a collagen supplement that really works.

Toki does what other collagen products only hope to do.

In Toki, those inventive Japanese have finally found a way to deliver collagen to the dermis - the deep-down layer of your skin where wrinkles begin. First, they put the collagen through a special process for better assimilation. Then they infuse it with HAI™, an amino acid complex from hijiki seaweed that helps the collagen molecules glide through the intestinal wall for transportation through your bloodstream to your cells.

Every day, Japanese women are drinking their wrinkles and age spots away with Toki. Now you can do the same. And if you start taking Toki now, just think what gasps of admiration you'll be hearing when your family and friends get their first look at the radiant, younger-looking new you!

Toki nourishes your skin deep down where wrinkles begin

Beauty experts have known for decades you need ample collagen to have lovely, wrinkle-free skin. Around age 30, our natural collagen production slows. At the same time, our bodies are becoming less efficient at absorbing collagen from food sources. So those laugh lines, crows feet, brown spots and wrinkles are actually all evidence of collagen deprivation.

The big cosmetic companies thought they had a solution with collagen creams you can slather on the surface of your skin. But while these telltale signs appear to rest on the top layer of your skin, they really lie deeper, in the dermis, or second layer of the skin. Creams and lotions just don't penetrate that far.

Toki works for your face – and your whole body!

Traveling through your bloodstream, Toki nourishes your skin deep down, where creams and lotions cannot reach but where new skin cells form. Toki is not an overnight wonder; typically, it takes 4 to 6 weeks to see the Toki rejuvenation begin. Over time, Toki can completely transform the way your skin both looks and feels.

The first thing you may notice is that your skin feels softer. It looks smoother - more radiant. And then you'll realize that it's not just your face that's different. The skin on your neck, your hands, your whole body takes on a new firmness, a new freshness. The only way to describe it is "younger-looking" - and believe me, it's a change you won't mind one bit - especially when you put on a swimsuit!

Doctors are impressed

Doctors who have tested Toki with their patients, like dermatologist Irwin Kantor, M.D., are very positive. "The diminished appearance of fine lines and wrinkles was impressive," Dr. Kantor says. "I was even more impressed with the fading of discolored spots on the skin."

Confirmed by clinical research

In one clinical study, 38 women who took Toki daily for eight weeks were rated on periorbital wrinkling (what you and I would call crow's feet) and overall facial aging.

Dermatological examinations confirmed the participants' own observations – by the end of 8 weeks, the appearance of wrinkles was significantly less and patchy discolorations were diminished. These visual assessments were confirmed by results of blood collagen assays of the participants' blood collagen levels.

As I said before, I know Toki works because I didn't just study it - I use it. Stories on Toki have appeared in Self, Elle, and New York Magazine. It's been covered on TV and written up in medical publications like Cosmetic Surgery Times and JANA.

Toki contains no fat, and it won't make you gain weight. (In fact, more than half of the participants in the study actually lost weight – more than two pounds each – while they were taking Toki.)

Toki is natural. It's painless. (You can't say that for collagen or Botox® injections!) A clinical study showed no adverse side effects. You can take it every day for as long as you want – because it's GOOD for you!

Toki is good nutrition for your skin, bones and joints

I don't just mean Toki is good for your skin. It's good for your whole body. In addition to the special collagen that gives your skin firmness and resiliency, it contains a mucopolysaccharide complex, to capture and hold moisture... vitamin C, for a more youthful quality... and amino acids from Japanese seaweed to help optimize absorption. But Toki is also a valuable source of calcium – a nutrient you ought to be taking anyway, every day. (And not just any calcium! Toki contains AdvaCAL®, the advanced calcium that's engineered to support aggressive bone-building). And it supplies glucosamine, the “healthy joints” nutrient.

And there's another thing that makes me feel good about Toki. It's a product of LaneLabs, one of the nutraceutical industry's foremost manufacturers of proprietary, research-based natural products. Since 1995, LaneLabs has dedicated more than a million dollars in researching the impact of these natural compounds on human health, and further studies are underway.

A special offer on the Toki Starter Kit – just for you.

For best results, you should start by taking Toki three times daily for 30 days; then you cut back to twice a day. And you can keep on taking it as long as you want to keep on having radiant, youthful-looking skin!
